Commander

by Jeff Adams

“Thank you, Thank you Thank you”. This has been the theme to my reports, but whole heartedly I know that it is the bridge and members who make the club amazing. I attend a monthly PMD meeting where I proudly inform other squadrons of the great classes, fun cruises, new socials and outstanding attendance.

Merry Christmas and best wishes for the Season. It is hard to believe that another year is almost gone and soon we will be welcoming in 2016. Leanne and I had a great time cruising this summer and are still enjoying the occasional overnight on the boat.

This being my second year as Commander it is now time for someone else to step forward and take the reins. Without a new Commander the club will have to re-circulate a Commander or merge with another squadron. Neither of these options are reasonable in my opinion. We are all busy but the role of Commander is made simpler with the help of our Past Commanders and a great bridge. Going into this role you will have a long list of past Commanders and the Langley Bridge is outstanding. I urge anyone interested in this role to step forward. I have really enjoyed my time as Commander and have learned a lot.

I would like to thank our sponsors; As New Autobody, Dolphin Insurance, Pacific Yacht Systems, SMI Electronics, Burrard Yacht club and Township 7 Winery. It is with these sponsors help that we are able to cover the cost of Brookwood Secondary to hold our classes and meetings. Please support these companies when possible.

We have many bridge members who wear more than one hat and who have been on the bridge in many different positions for many years. I am asking that we get some new people on the bridge to keep ideas fresh and volunteers energized. The people on the bridge and our teachers do what they do because they believe in the squadron they are excited to help out and teach others. I would like to see others get this excited and realize the comrodery that is built when helping out on the bridge. We have wonderful and well respected teachers who put in a lot of time helping educate new and old boater’s thank you Bill, Terry, Shane and Jim. I think they will agree with me that we could use a few more teachers to help out. If this interests you or the bridge interests you please let any of us know and we will do what is necessary to bring you into these positions.

I look forward to seeing everyone on the water in the New Year and wish you a Merry Christmas.

Boating Apps - An Overview

With so many new boating apps available for download, it is getting more and more difficult to know which ones are really useful. The apps we are going to look at have been recommended by fellow boaters and are divided into categories including navigation, weather, tides, marine traffic, control, anchoring, sail and lifestyle.

Jeff's Bio

Jeff is a systems design engineer, avid boater, entrepreneur, the author of the monthly column “Tech Talk” in Pacific Yachting Magazine and a regular Power Squadron presenter. His company, Pacific Yacht Systems Inc., provides boaters with easy to use, reliable solutions for marine electrical and electronics. Jeff's presentations are designed for beginners, tech-savvy, and DIY experts alike. Satori II, Jeff's Catalina 36MkI sailboat, is moored on the Sunshine Coast, ready to go whenever he has a chance. His favourite cruising grounds are Barkley Sound and Six hardy members of Langley Power and Sail Squadron braved near hurricane weather to participate in the Great Canadian Shoreline Cleanup. In just over 2 hours the soaking wet crew collected over 14 bags of garbage. It's amazing what you will find on a 1/4 mile section of shoreline in Ladner Harbour. Plastic cups, plastic oil pails and containers, plastic garbage bags, a 20 foot x 20 foot tarp and just a lot of good old garbage. Many thanks to Jeff, Leanne, Jay, Brian, Terry and Jim for their participation. We will be organizing another clean up next year. This time I hope the weather will be not so wet.

Thank you for keeping Canada's shorelines clean

We hit a major milestone in 2015, with the most cleanups ever registered in one year! Thank you for joining more than 50,000 volunteers at 2,000+ cleanups across the country.

Together, we removed 409,124 cigarette butts, 92,738 food wrappers and 49,721 plastic bottle caps, as well as some pretty unusual items such as yoga pants, a pirate coin and a rubber ducky. All of this added up to more than 148,000 kg of trash from nearly 3,000 km.

Now what?

Cleanups are the first step to solving shoreline litter. Let's go a step further.

- Reduce your own plastic waste with tips from team member and resident plastic-free expert, Tanya
- Are you an elementary school teacher? Continue the learning experience with our free curriculum guides
- Share your cleanup results on Facebook or Twitter (tag us @cleanshorelines)
- Talk with your friends and family about your cleanup
- Send your photos and data to your local newspaper and become a local celebrity!
- Start a recycling program at your school or workplace
- Take your data card to your municipality and discuss what you found
- Plan your next cleanup and bring a friend who has never done one before. Registration opens March 2016.

Have a great story of action you've taken after a cleanup? Email us

Thank you for your ongoing commitment to shoreline cleanups. Together, we can achieve our goal of keeping shorelines in Canada litter free.

See you again in 2016!

Kate Le Souef
Manager, Great Canadian Shoreline Cleanup

P.S. Shoreline cleanups couldn't happen without your incredible efforts and support. If you love what we do, you can donate to the Vancouver Aquarium.

Thinking of 2016

by Jay Chalkman

It is December and my thoughts are of the holidays, winter boat projects and cruising plans for next year. During the wet and cold winter evenings, I am starting to look at the internet for deals for my next project. I also start looking at other Tolly's to get some new ideas. I do know I plan to build new seating for the main cabin salon. The wooden deck chairs are just not filling the bill anymore. They did their job, but it is time to make the cabin a little more comfortable. I also plan to replace my portholes with new stainless ones, from New Found Metals, before the cruising season starts. They will be a big improvement over the brittle old plastic ones. Moreover, I know the boat shows will be coming up in January, and that could be the time to buy that new CHIRP sounder for the inflatable. I have a few maintenance projects that are must and not an option. Fortunately, our squadron boating friends are always there to help give us project ideas, advice and often much needed, and appreciated, help.

This also a time when we start to think where we want to go boating next year. Do we want to stay in the Gulf Islands or do we want to go north? I know some squadron members are talking about going south this year. Other members are happy to cruise the Gulf islands. I do know I don't want to miss any the squadron cruises. Our Cruise Masters, Tammy and Sharon, have some great cruises planned for 2016. It is always a good time cruising with our squadron friends. Port Browning is one of the planned cruise for 2016 and definitely not to be missed.

During these off season nights, I also like to see what the squadron course offerings are for 2016. There could be something that interests me and, as always, helps me be a safer and improved boater. That is good.

Lastly, Jeff Adams has been doing a great job as Commander and Leanne Adams has done an outstanding job with Socials. The social events have been a real success, and both Hilary and I look forward the 2016 events. These events are great opportunity to meet new boating friends and catch up with cruising friends.

Happy Holidays and All the Best for 2016.

Christmas Party

Langley held its annual Christmas function at Fraser Downs Race Track with Surdel, White Rock and new this year Valley Squadron. We were in the Home Stretch as the Clubhouse is being renovated. The buffet was not as elaborate but our cost was $5.00 less per person. Everyone was closer together and sat along the window for better socializing. We will try to get back into the Club House as the ambience and food are better.

I hear the big winner for the evening was Jim Henderson. We had our very own Tami Mc Farlane in the starters car for one of the races she said it was a really fun experience. I believe Lyle MacMillan arranged the ride.

We had 83 in attendance including current District Commander Dave Magnuson and past District Commander Shirley Shea. Langley had 59 members and guests, Surdel had 4 members and guests, White Rock had 14 members and guests and Valley had 6 members and guests.

While we are planning to try Fraser Downs again next year we are always open to new ideas. Merry Christmas, it was a fun night and as always Power Squadron people are lots of fun.
